

NAME GEN. GOBIN TO LEAD VETERANS

NEW COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF THE GRAND ARMY.

Cincinnati Wins Next Meet—Two Bal-lots Necessary—Archbishop Ireland Arouses Enthusiasm—Gen. Clarkson's Annual Report Read—Women's Relief Corps in Session.

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Gen. J. P. S. Gobin of Lebanon, Pa., was Thursday night elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. Cincinnati was selected as the place for the next encampment.

Col. Isaac F. Mack of Sandusky was beaten by the movement to take the encampment to Cincinnati. The old soldiers thought the union was too large to let one state have both honors.

The convention met at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and took up the encampment question first. President M. E. Ingalls of the Big Four presented the invitation from Cincinnati. San Francisco was also put in competition. The vote was: Cincinnati, 526; San Francisco, 214. New York cast 61 votes for San Francisco and 1 for Cincinnati.

At 6 o'clock nominations for commander were asked for. Gen. George H. Innis of Massachusetts, Gen. John C. Linehan of New Hampshire, Col. Mack and Gen. Gobin were nominated. Gen. Gobin's name being presented by Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania. Gen. Innis' name was withdrawn before the first ballot was taken. Gen. Gobin was elected on the second ballot.

On motion of Department Commander R. B. Brown of Ohio, who nominated Col. Mack, the election was made unanimous. The convention put over until today the election of the other officers. Alfred Lyth of Buffalo will be elected senior vice-commander.

Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul addressed the encampment during its secret session Thursday. The archbishop served as a chaplain in the army. Commander Clarkson formally received him into the Grand Army Wednesday night. The convention was aroused to great enthusiasm by the archbishop's speech. The archbishop said: "So long as God permits me to live I will serve America, and when I die I want no better tribute than this: 'He was a worthy comrade of the Grand Army of the Republic.'" Gen. Lew Wallace also addressed the encampment.

A report from the committee on school histories was presented by A. O. Marsh of Indiana. It says that the Grand Army is dissatisfied with the histories of the civil war, not that it wants the bitter memories of that event revived, but because "we cannot close our eyes to the fact that our school books do not make a distinction between ourselves and those who fought against us." "We demand," says the report, "that it be made clear in the text books of the country that those who fought for the union were right and that the confederacy was wrong."

The report of Adjutant General Charles E. Burmeister showed that in good standing June 30, 1896, the order had 7,302 posts, with 340,610 members; on Dec. 31, 1896, it had 7,276 posts, with 327,412 members; on June 30, 1897, it had 7,106 posts, with 319,456 members. During the last ten years, he also reported, the Grand Army of the Republic had expended for charity the magnificent sum of $2,100,617.67.

Commander-in-Chief Clarkson's report was interesting from many standpoints.

In the course of its delivery he referred feelingly to his visits in the southern department. His reception there was of the heartiest, and he found as hearty a response to the sentiment, "One country, one flag, one people, one destiny," in Georgia as he did in Massachusetts.

Attention is drawn to the constant decrease in the enrollment of comrades by suspensions, and Mr. Clarkson urges in consequence an increase of one-half cent per capita upon the members to meet expenses. He also wants each active member to become a recruiting officer until every old soldier is enrolled in the G. A. R. books.

But probably the most interesting part of the chief's report was the reference made to Memorial day and bicycle racing. In this connection he says:

I am not one of those who believes that a day established thirty years ago by our beloved commander-in-chief, Logan, and since made a holy day and a holiday by legal enactment in the majority of the states, should be changed simply because a lot of hoodlums and thoughtless men and women desecrate it by games and races. A large majority of our people are observers of the Sabbath day, and they do not consider parades and public demonstrations seemly upon that day, and their wishes should be respected, for we look to them rather than to the thoughtless for the moral support we need."

The work of the Woman's Relief corps is praised, and the desire of veterans to hold public office is commended. However, says Mr. Clarkson, the comrade so ambitious should not ask indorsement of any post, for others there may be in the posts equally as desirous of holding that very position. Brief reference is also made to the stand taken by the G. A. R. in connection with history: that one side was that these officers should be given the same respect and honor as was given to the soldiers of the grand army of the republic. The president of the grand army of the republic, Gen. J. P. S. Gobin, was elected commander-in-chief of the grand army of the republic. The convention met at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and took up the encampment question first. President M. E. Ingalls of the Big Four presented the invitation from Cincinnati. San Francisco was also put in competition. The vote was: Cincinnati, 526; San Francisco, 214. New York cast 61 votes for San Francisco and 1 for Cincinnati.

At 6 o'clock nominations for commander were asked for. Gen. George H. Innis of Massachusetts, Gen. John C. Linehan of New Hampshire, Col. Mack and Gen. Gobin were nominated. Gen. Gobin's name being presented by Thomas J. Stewart of Pennsylvania. Gen. Innis' name was withdrawn before the first ballot was taken. Gen. Gobin was elected on the second ballot.

On motion of Department Commander R. B. Brown of Ohio, who nominated Col. Mack, the election was made unanimous. The convention put over until today the election of the other officers. Alfred Lyth of Buffalo will be elected senior vice-commander.

PITTSBURG'S FIRE COST TWO LIVES

FLAMES CREATE A PANIC IN SEVENTH AVENUE HOTEL.

Two Firemen Meet Death—Property Loss Will Reach $165,000—Accident to Firemen Occurs After the Blaze is Subdued—Fire at Chicago Causes Heavy Property Loss.

Pittsburg Pa., Aug. 27.—Fire Thursday evening caused the loss of $165,000 worth of property, injury to two firemen and created a panic in the Seventh Avenue hotel. The fire originated from the explosion of a gas engine in the cellar.

The building is T shape, running back from its Smithfield street front to a ten-foot alley in the rear, separating it from the Seventh Avenue hotel, the extensions extending to Seventh avenue and Strawberry alley. The guests of the hotel, numbering 150, were nearly all at supper at the time the flames were discovered.

A small-sized panic ensued, and a grand rush was made for the exits. Fortunately no one was hurt. The fire burned the kitchen and part of the dining room of the hotel.

The wall of an adjoining furniture store fell into the alley, catching the firemen, one of whom—John Neelan—was badly hurt, but not seriously. Several buildings adjoining the burning structure were damaged by water, the aggregate loss amounting to about $5,000. The other losses are: Edmundson & Perrine, $100,000 on stock, insurance $42,000; John Daub, owner of the building, $50,000; insurance $7,000; Seventh Avenue hotel, $10,000, fully insured.

At 11 o'clock, after the fire had been subdued and the firemen were counting up their hose the Strawberry wall of the Edmundson & Perrine building fell, burying under the debris two firemen, Zeke Glover and Harry Holt. Two boys who were watching the firemen work are also supposed to be under the fallen wall.

A large force of men were put to work at once to get the victims out. As the wall was three stories high, the progress of the rescuers was slow. At 11:50 o'clock Holt's dead body was recovered and Glover's was reached soon afterward. Both men were married and lived in Lawrenceville.

Fierce Fire at Chicago. Chicago, Aug. 27.—The big plant of the Fitzgerald Trunk company, at 407, 409 and 411 Wells street, was almost completely destroyed by fire, which broke out shortly after 11 o'clock last night. Property valued at $200,000 was wiped out by the flames in a brief space of time.

NEW AMERICAN PARTY.

Favors the Demonetization of Both Gold and Silver.

St. Louis, Aug. 27.—The new American party was launched Thursday by a convention of between forty and fifty delegates who represent nine states and territories, and are said to have backing in a large number of other states.

A national committee was elected of ten members, with Col. E. H. Sellers of Detroit as chairman. Detroit was selected for the committee headquarters for the ensuing year. The platform starts out with the declaration that the most potent safeguard of prosperity is an abundant revenue, and therefore favors such an adjustment of the tariff and internal revenues as will produce sufficient money for the government's expenditures.

On the financial question the platform has this to say: "Since nearly or quite 99 per cent of all business transactions of the country are accomplished without the use of specie, we favor the demonetization of both gold and silver, the prohibition of contracts for payment in coin of either metal and the substitution of metallic tokens for our present minor coins."

"We believe that all currency should be in the form of treasury notes of unlimited legal-tender quality, and in such quantity as shall facilitate the freest commercial exchange, and that every form of currency notes should be withdrawn from circulation."

France Has a Powerful Ally.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—At a luncheon given Thursday in honor of the czar on board the French cruiser Pothuau, the czar, in proposing a toast to the French president, said: "Your stay among us creates a fresh bond between our two friendly and allied nations, which are equally resolved to contribute with all their power to the maintenance of peace in the world in the spirit of right and equity."

Fulton Fears an Invasion.

Fulton, Ill., Aug. 27.—Judge Gest at Rock Island Thursday dissolved the injunction against the removal of Head Clerk Hawes' office of the Modern Woodmen of America from Fulton. Acting upon information received and apprehending another Rock Island invasion, the riot alarm was turned in and Fulton's gun brigade of 150 special police turned out at once. Hundreds of excited people, including many from Iowa, thronged the streets, and the excitement was only partially allayed when Master in Chancery McPherson granted another injunction at 6:40 p. m.

THOUSANDS IN NEED FOOD AND CLOTHES

FEAR OF A BREAD RIOT IN SOME OHIO DISTRICTS.

Children Are Suffering—St. Louis Conference is Looked Forward to With Impatience—Wives of Strikers Jeer Non-Union Men—Gompers Confident of Victory.

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 27.—Mine officials are waiting with some impatience for the St. Louis conference of labor leaders. General Master Workman Sovereign of the Knights of Labor has removed his headquarters from Fort Wayne to this city temporarily. There is a remote fear of a bread riot in several of the Ohio districts, and State Miner Haseltine was in consultation with President Hatchford quite awhile Thursday. Mr. Haseltine has received letters which show an aggregate of 17,500 persons in want of food. Many of these are children under 14. The people of the state have not responded generously to Governor Bushnell's appeal. Two years ago, in response to an appeal by Governor McKinley, food and money was poured in. All destitution was relieved and the relief committee had more than $1,000 left. The stores in the mining towns have trusted the idle miners to the extreme limit, and besides have very little stock on hands.

GOMPERS IS CONFIDENT.

Labor Leader Thinks Strike Will Be Won by the End of September.

Washington, Aug. 27.—President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor gave his view of the present coal strike situation to The Associated Press Thursday as follows:

"The situation, as I gather it from the reports of our organizers, indicates that between 60 per cent and 65 per cent of the mines in West Virginia are now closed down completely. So long as the West Virginia miners continued operations there was, of course, little hope of an absolute victory for the miners, because West Virginia could supply the urgent needs of the market. But, with the suspension in West Virginia becoming general, if the miners in the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois keep their ranks unbroken, as I am confident they will, the strike must result in an absolute victory for the men. Before Sept. 15 the lake trade must be supplied. The situation becomes daily more acute, and while I hesitate to fix a day, I believe that the strike will be terminated by the end of September and that the settlement will be in favor of the miners."

JEER NON-UNION MEN.

Women Make a Demonstration Against the Working Miners.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—The wives and daughters of the striking miners at De Armit's Oak Hill mines near Turtle creek took a prominent part Thursday in the demonstration against the working miners.

Early in the morning a dozen or more women gathered at the camp, and, with flags and banners, marched along the roads leading toward the tipple. On their way they met a number of miners going to the pit, and greeted them with yells and jeers. They derided the miners who were working and ridiculed them in a manner which caused many of them to hang their heads in shame. The women say they will make a demonstration every day hereafter.

Superintendent S. C. DeArmit and four deputy sheriffs have commenced the work of evicting the families of the Plum creek strikers. The work will be kept up until the company has possession of all its houses.

Pennsylvania Republicans.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—The Republican state convention, comprising 363 delegates, met in this city Thursday and nominated James S. Beacom of Westmoreland county for state treasurer and Maj. G. McCauley of Chester county for auditor-general. The platform ratifies and reaffirms the St. Louis declaration of principles; congratulates the people on the passage of the Dingley bill and the return of prosperity; pledges the party to maintain a just, reasonable and equitable civil-service system; denounces ex-President Cleveland for his "abuse of its powers"; declares for state and municipal reforms, the purification of elections and the free exercise of the elective franchise; indorses the administration of President McKinley and Gov. Hastings; regrets the defeat of the reform bills by the late legislature, and recommends the passage of the bill requiring the payment of interest on state deposits.

Higher Prices for Wheat.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27.—Gov. Mount, who has always been a practical farmer, comes out and advises all farmers to hold their wheat for $1.25. The rise Thursday at Chicago confirmed the governor in his previous opinion that the fall of the day before was only temporary, the result of profit taking.

Three Lives Lost in a Fire.

Jackson, Cal., Aug. 27.—The boarding house of the Union Consolidated mine at Weiland was burned Wednesday night, and Mrs. Craighead, wife of the proprietor, and two of her grandchildren aged 8 and 10 years, perished in the flames.

THE BASEBALL REPORT.

Standing of the Clubs in the Various Leagues.

Griffith, the star pitcher of the Colts, met his Waterloo yesterday. The New York men found him for twenty-four hits and nineteen runs, and though Rusie was also comparatively easy for the Colts, sharp fielding by the Giants held Anson's men down to six runs. Washington for the second time handled the Beaneaters without gloves, hitting Nichols safely thirteen times and allowing Boston only one run. Baltimore beat Cincinnati in a good game and the Red men dropped back within half a game of New York. Standing of the clubs:

PEACE PACT FAVORED.

Lawyers Are for Arbitration—Uniform State Laws.

Cleveland, Aug. 27.—The features of Thursday's meeting of the American Bar Association were an excellent address by Governor John W. Griggs of New Jersey on "Legislation and the Needs of Reform in Lawmaking," and the adoption of a resolution committing the association to an effort to bring about international arbitration treaties with all enlightened nations of the earth.

The committee on uniform state law reported that thirty states and one territory have appointed commissioners on uniform state laws, California and Arizona having joined the conference during the past year.

Open Ballots in Foresters.

Denver, Col., Aug. 27.—The time of the supreme council of Foresters of America Thursday was taken up with the reports of committees. The membership and finance committees of the order reported and the reports show both to be in a very satisfactory condition. The consideration of the report of the committee on laws occupied the greater part of the day and was not finished when the council adjourned. Among other things it was decided to hold open ballots in all courts of the order.

Now Aim at the Queen Regent.

London, Aug. 27.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from San Sebastian says the Spanish government has learned that at a secret anarchist meeting in London it was resolved to revenge the execution of Angiolillo, the assassin of Canovas del Castillo, by an attempt upon the life of the Queen Regent of Spain.

New Lead Mine in Illinois.

Astoria, Ill., Aug. 27.—A company of men from the northern part of this county has been prospecting in this vicinity for mineral. It is publicly announced that they have discovered rich lead and silver ore in great quantities. They will at once begin preparations to develop the mine.

Big Combine of Distilleries.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 27.—It is reported here that a deal to combine the distillery interests of Kentucky with a capitalization of $15,000,000 has been closed in New York.

THREE TRAMPS FACE BIG FACTORY FORCE

KENOSHA THE SCENE OF A SAVAGE FIGHT.

Sterling Bicycle Co Men Are Unable To Oust a Trio of Tie Tourists Until Much Blood Has Been Shed—One of the Men May Die.

Kenosha, Aug. 27.—[Special]—Late yesterday afternoon three tramps approached the Sterling cycle works and entered the building on pretence of selling some goods. A discussion arose and the men were ordered out of the building. They showed fight and an effort was made to put them out. One man drew a revolver and fired several shots, without serious effect. Clubs were then used and a severe battle raged for nearly half an hour, when the tramps were overpowered and carted to jail. William Huff one of the employees was terribly cut and bruised and may die. The tramps were also badly used up and in bad shape.

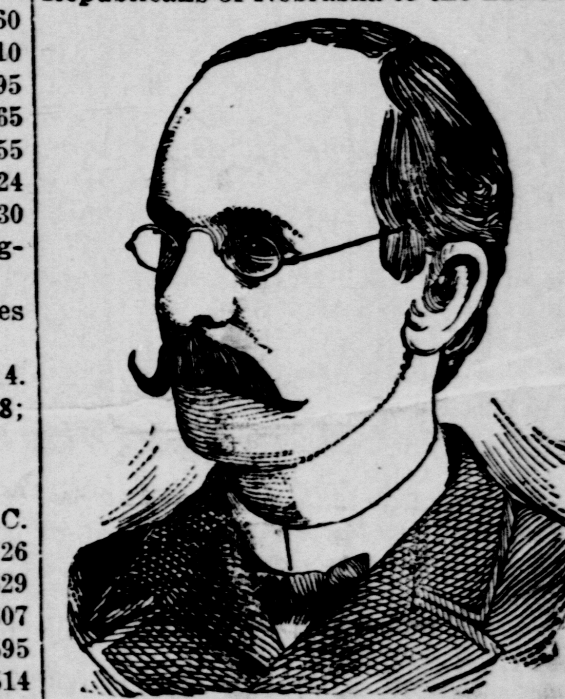

Mrs. William Savage had a headache last night and went to the cupboard to get some medicine. By mistake she took Paris green and suffered terrible agony before the arrival of the doctor. She is in a critical condition and will probably die.

SENATOR THURSTON RETIRES.

Nebraska Statesman Has Already Tired of Public Life.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 27.—The Republican state convention was in session less than four hours. The formal work of the body was soon done. It was merely to renominate Judge A. M. Post for Supreme court justice and W. C. Kaley and John Dryden for state university regents.

The platform committee reported an enthusiastic instrument, repelling the Republicans of Nebraska to the nation.

JOHN M. THURSTON.

al platform of the party, pointing to the prevailing prosperity in Nebraska as the most extraordinary business revival of the age and concluding with praise for Cuba and demand that Spain's methods cease. The absence of any reference to the money question in the platform caused some surprise, and was explained by one member of the committee in the statement that the silver question is a dead issue and needs no burial at the hands of Nebraska Republicans.

Senator John M. Thurston in his address to the convention said that he would not again be a candidate for the senate.

Prior to the convention a conference of leaders was held to determine whether anything should be said on the subject of the looting of the state treasury by Joseph Bartley, who lies in jail under sentence of twenty-one years for the offense. He was a Republican and for years one of the leaders of the party. It was finally concluded to let that pass. The opposition openly asserts that if Post is elected Bartley will never be punished for his crime.

HAS NOT HEARD FROM JAPAN

Hawaii Receives No Word Regarding the Arbitration Proposition.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27.—The steamer Mariposa arrived Thursday from Sydney, via Honolulu, with the following Hawaiian advices: The Hawaiian government has not yet received an answer from Japan regarding the offer to refer the immigration trouble to arbitration. There is no change in the situation here. The Hawaiian Star, commenting upon the admission of a Japanese that in case of trouble all Japanese in Honolulu were to meet at a rendezvous, says: "If we look up the Japanese correspondence and the articles in the Japanese press there is found frequent allusion to an uprising in the islands. It is one of the excuses for the presence of the Naniwa in our waters."

Excursionists in a Wreck.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Aug. 27.—A disastrous collision occurred on the Corydon branch railroad Thursday between two passenger trains while running a curve. William Neal, of New Albany, was badly injured, and many more were hurt more or less seriously.

Sherman Will Stump Ohio.

Washington, Aug. 27.—John Sherman, secretary of state, is to speak in Ohio next month in favor of the candidacy of Mark Hanna for the United States Senate.

NEWS OF COUNTY IN CRISP LETTERS

FUNERAL OF EZRA CRANDALL, OF MILTON.

Chapter in the Life of the Rock County Pioneer—New Students For Milton College the Fruits of An Evangelistic Trip—Paragraphs of County News.

THE GAZETTE AGENCY
W. W. CLARKE, Manager,
Milton, Wis., Aug. 27, 1897.

The funeral of Ezra Crandall took place Wednesday afternoon from the S. D. B. church. The services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. A. Platts, D. D., assisted by President W. C. Whitford and Rev. S. H. Babcock. The deceased was born in Brookfield, N. Y., June 8, 1820. He received a liberal education, pursuing a special course in Alfred (N. Y.) University. After completing his studies in 1844, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Smith, daughter of B. F. Smith of Avoca, N. Y. She died February 18, 1888. This union was blessed with three children, two of whom are living. L. Estelle, born in 1846, died in New York in 1867. Helen Elvina, now the wife of W. W. Clarke, and Dr. C. Eugene, of the University of Chicago faculty.

Mr. Crandall was again married on the 27th of March, 1889, to Mrs. E. P. Babcock, a native of Hartsville, N. Y., who survives him. He came to Milton in 1869, where he purchased land began dealing in real estate. Soon after the Bank of Milton was organized he was elected as president and held that position until deafness caused him to retire. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of Milton College about twenty years and at various times has financially assisted that institution by handsome donations. He was for a number of years treasurer of the Seventh Day Baptist church and a member of the Board of Trustees and a very liberal contributor to its support. During his active business career he was counted one of the influential and leading men of the town. His declining years were spent in quiet enjoyment of the ease and comfort which his early days of energy and activity had secured for him.

Raymond Talbert and Edgar Van Horn, who have been spending their college vacation in Southern Illinois, doing evangelistic work in the interest of the Seventh Day Baptist denomination, returned Thursday. A number of young people from that section came with them and will enter Milton college as students.

Prof. S. Summers and wife, who have been visiting relatives in the Dominion of Canada for several weeks, returned this week and will move to Juda next week, where the professor is to teach the coming year.

Wednesday evening the family of J. L. Shaw and relatives gathered at the residence of Prof. Edwin Shaw in honor of Prof. Dighton W. Shaw, who goes to Alfred N. Y., next week to begin his course in the theological department of Alfred university.

The following Miltonians enjoyed the Lake Geneva excursion Thursday. Misses Gertrude Davidson, Bertha Davis and Ethel Ballard. Mrs. S. B. Davy and Messrs. J. B. Tracy, Frank Gifford, J. A. Ooon, B. H. Wells, W. H. Davidson and Ray Clarke.

W. G. Rood mounted his wheel Wednesday for a long ride. He goes to his home at North Loupe, Neb., stopping en route at West Hallock, Ill., to visit friends.

Prof. Kumlien and wife have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Schutte of Chicago, this week. Mrs. Schutte will be remembered as a daughter of Mrs. Edward Bardick.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Crandall of Harmony, have two children sick with scarlet fever, but the disease is of a light form and they are getting along nicely.

Mrs. P. A. Burdick of New York, who is a noted temperance lecturer, is a guest of Milton friends, and will give a number of addresses in this locality.

Misses Bessie Clarke and Nellie Maxson and Messrs. J. D. Clarke and

A LETTER TO WOMEN.

A few words from Mrs. Smith, of Philadelphia, will certainly corroborate the claim that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is woman's ever reliable friend.

"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly.

"For nine weeks I was in bed suffering with inflammation and congestion of the ovaries. I had a discharge all the time. When lying down all the time, I felt quite comfortable; but as soon as I would put my feet on the floor, the pains would come back.

"Every one thought it was impossible for me to get well. I was paying $1 per day for doctor's visits and 75 cents a day for medicine. I made up my mind to try Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has effected a complete cure for me, and I have all the faith in the world in it. What a blessing to woman it is!"—Mrs. JENNIE L. SMITH, No. 324 Kaufman St., Philadelphia, Pa.

C. E. Perry rode their wheels to Lake Geneva, Thursday, returning today.

P. A. Babcock, of Oshkosh, J. J. Noble and wife of Fort Atkinson and T. B. Collins and wife, of Albion attended the funeral of Ezra Crandall.

The W. B. C. gave Mrs. C. Cutting a pleasant surprise Wednesday evening by serving supper at her home and enjoying a social hour with her.

Prof. E. B. Swift is at home again. He has been giving illustrated lectures before teachers' institutes in Illinois and this state.

Mrs. Booth and Herbert Saunders of Hammond, La., arrived in town Tuesday. Mr. Saunders will enter college.

WANT ALL GOLFERS TO COME.

Milwaukee Club Extends a Very Cordial Invitation to Janesville.

J. C. Wall of the Milwaukee Country club writes extending a very cordial invitation to the members of the Mississippi club to accompany the team to Milwaukee tomorrow. The ladies of the club will be especially welcome. Today's Sentinel in speaking of the game says:

"The Janesville team will be made up of men having 18 hole scores on the Janesville course of 110, 118, 123, 136 and 143. The course of the Janesville links is about the same length as that of the Country club, the distance between holes being as follows: Hole No. 1, 243 yards; No. 2, 327 yards; No. 3, 281 yards; No. 4, 210 yards; No. 5, 617 yards. No. 6, 457 yards. No. 7, 236 yards; No. 8, 429 yards; No. 9, 194 yards.

"From these figures it appears that the course is a very difficult one, and harder at least by a half stroke a hole than the local course, assuming that the putting greens and fair green are not in as good condition as the links of the Country club. As the distances range from 194 yards for the shortest hole up to 617 yards for the longest hole, it is a course where the 'long game' is required, even to a greater extent than on the local course, and will probably be the game that the visitors will be most adept at. Taking all these points into consideration it will be safe to say that at least nine strokes can be taken off the scores of the Janesville players for their play on the Country club course.

"The Golf committee will select the team that will play against Janesville as soon as the personnel of the team is known that will go to Riverside." The Janesville players will leave for Milwaukee on the 7 o'clock train tomorrow morning. All who can go are requested to.

BOYS CASHED IN 85 WASHERS
Penny-in-the-Slot Machines Have Been Getting the Worst of It.

The penny-in-the slot machines are getting the worst of it in all parts of the city. The announcement of the washer fake in last evening's Gazette set store keepers to investigating, and some startling discoveries were made. All around town iron washers were found in abundance. George E. King the druggist, on opening his machine, found eighty-five washers that had been paid in for pennies by mischievous youths who pined for gum.

WILL SELL TRANSFER HOUSE

American Express Co. Puts Janesville Property on the Market.

State Superintendent McDuffy of the American Express company has notified Agent C. P. McLean to receive bids at once for the transfer house at the C. & N. W. depot. This transfer house is comparatively a new one having been recently built at a cost of about $400. The order for its sale indicates that a new depot is very probable.

CAPT. BUCHHOLZ DAY WAS A NOTABLE ONE

FRIENDS JOIN IN HIS ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

Speeches By Mayor Thoroughgood, O. F. Nowlan, W. T. Vankirk and S. B. Heddles—Handsome Gift to the Captain—Has Run Six Boats Here.

Captain Buchholz and his friends had a good time all yesterday afternoon at the captain's anniversary picnic.

Fish chowder was served to all comers at long tables under the trees, and at 6:30 the ladies of the party spread an elaborate picnic supper. During the afternoon there were several speeches. Mayor Thoroughgood reviewed Captain Buchholz' thirty-one years in Janesville. The mayor related how Captain Buchholz' health failed him and he was compelled to leave his blacksmith shop. He met J. B. Green and the suggestion was made that a steamer be built. Capt. Buchholz had been in the steamboat business in Germany and he went to work at once on his first Janesville craft—the Bower City Belle. The copartnership between Mr. Buchholz and Mr. Green did not last long. The next partnership was a company formed between Capt. Buchholz, John Bauman, John and Michael Buob. This company was in existence a long time, but finally quit business. Since that time Capt. Buchholz has owned his own boats and catered to the general public in an honest, straightforward manner. It is no small thing to say after so many years of steamboat life on Rock river, his boats have never met with an accident, never had a passenger lost by drowning and today he can feel assured that his patrons hold him in high esteem for the very courteous manner in which he and his good wife cater to their comfort, both on the steamer and at the grounds.

O. F. Nowlan was called upon, and declared that the mayor had covered all the ground between the city and Crystal Springs. W. T. Vankirk made brief remarks, and S. B. Heddles told a story appropriate to the occasion.

In the course of the speeches it was brought out that Captain Buchholz has built and run six boats on Rock river. The first was the Bower City Belle, then the Little Otto, City of Newport, Enterprise, Columbia, and a small one which he has not named.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchholz were presented with two handsome chairs and an extension table by the company present, and the captain also received a model of the Columbia from Edward Hayford.

WISCONSIN NEWS IN BRIEF

The Northwestern Iron Works of Mayville have commenced operations with 150 hands. The wet weather is claiming many of the oats around Elroy which are stacked.

ACCORDING to the assessors returns the value of Monroe property is $2,022,775, a considerable increase over last year.

BANKER F. HART of Elroy, discovered a gun in the repair shop at that place that had been stolen from his residence six years ago.

THE Polish Catholic church of Ripon, has received a new statue of St. Wenceslaus. The work on the statue was done in Europa.

EMPLOYEES of the American Wire Hoop company of Superior have struck because three non-union men were employed. The works have shut down.

MATHIAS BOLMES of Racine was fined $25 and given a severe reprimand by the judge for whipping his son. The boy's back was black and blue and was badly lacerated.

M. M. SECOR of Racine says that he will bring charges against the mayor and council for violating the city charter by letting a contract for paving without advertising for bids.

PETER HAUSER has brought suit in Kenosha, against Mrs. Mary Whitley for injuries received from a vicious bull, while working on the farm of the defendant near Brighton. The plaintiff asks for $10,000 damages.

The berrying party which left West Superior in a boat, and over which considerable fear was expressed as they did not arrive home as intended, have come back. Unfavorable winds caused the delay in returning.

Mrs. JOHN KRAUSE, wife of a farmer living near Newberg, was killed Tuesday night by a train on the Milwaukee and Northern division of the St. Paul road. Friends had been watching her for some time, as her mind was failing, but she some way escaped from their care.

In their session yesterday at Madison the board of university regents decided to buy the Lewis farm at a cost of $13,000 for the agricultural department of the college, and also to let the contract for the building of a new barn. The price is $13,300.

A $10,000 damage suit has been brought against ex-Sheriff Hugh Hall of Dodge county, by Tom Cullen of Beaver Dam. Cullen claims that he suffered from ill treatment while confined in the county jail while Hall was sheriff. The suit was thrown out of court when brought up last spring.

ISAAC ROBINSON, who was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary from Kenosha for burning the factory of the Chicago Bedding company, has had his sentence commuted to three years. He has served two years of the sentence. There was strong sympathy expressed for Robinson in Kenosha, as it was thought that he was only a tool in the hands of the real culprits in the case.

THE Newport mine of Ashland has been sold to a Milwaukee man and M. A. Hanna of Cleveland. The mine has been closed for three months. The new company has opened one shaft and given employment to 125 men. This is one of the best mines in the range, and the average yearly output being 150,000 tons of first grade ore. The price paid for the mine was about $250,000.

J. C. KLINE MAY COME BACK

Likely to Resume His Position As Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The directors of the Janesville Y. M. C. A. have offered J. C. Kline his old post of secretary. When Mr. Kline left Janesville it was to be the assistant pastor of a church in Chicago. Mr. Kline had strong intentions at that time of entering the ministry as a profession and following it for his future career. He was disappointed, however, in the inducements held out to him, after he had thrown up his Janesville position, and after being in Chicago for a short time he accepted the position of secretary of the Young Men's Christian association at Kankakee, Illinois, where he is now located.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the local association it was decided to tender Mr. Kline a call to accept his old position.

When Mr. Kline was in the city this week he held a long conference with the officers, together with State Secretary F. E. Anderson. Mr. Kline did not give a definite answer to the offer, but it is expected that he will send his reply in time to come before the annual meeting of the board of directors to be held on Wednesday evening of next week.

EXAMINATION FOR POSITIONS

Board of Fire and Police Commissioner to Hold Their First Examinations.

The board of fire and police commissioners will meet in the city council chamber October 11 A. D. 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of examining applicants for positions in the fire and police departments of the city of Janesville. Blank applications and copies of the rules adopted by the board may be obtained from the chiefs of the respective departments. Applications should be filed with the secretary of the board as soon as soon as practicable. The members of the board are anxious to improve, if possible, the efficiency of both departments and solicit applications for positions from good men. The pay is good and the positions permanent.

LOUIS JAMES ON MONDAY

Janesville Season of 1897-8 to Be Opened With Spartacus.

Many are looking forward to the engagement of Louis James next Monday when the 1897-8 season opens. Mr. James will present Dr. Bird's heroic tragedy "Spartacus," which he revived on an adequate scale last season. The play will be given with all the remarkable scenic details which have characterized it as one of the most expensive and elaborate productions of the present dramatic era. Mr. James' company is one of the strongest now before the public, and enlists such names as Barry Johnston, Norman Hackett, Frank Peters, Miss Mary Emerson and others.

H. F. NOTT, Dealer in
Pianos and Organs, Janesville, Wis.:

Dear Sir:—We purchased a Braumuller Piano about five years ago and can truthfully say that I take pleasure in stating that it has given the most perfect satisfaction in our home. Its capacity for standing in tune is certainly wonderful and the tone today is as good if not better than the day we bought it, and would recommend it to any one wanting a first-class Piano.

Respectfully Yours,
Signed by A. CRAWFORD.

BOOK AGENTS NOW BARRED.

The Law Against Peddlers Has a Direct Bearing on Their Case.

Book agents who canvass Janesville in the future had better beware. There is now a law for book agents. Heretofore these itinerant vendors of literature have managed to avoid set guns and other appliances designed for their destruction and have talked and shouted their wares without stint. But there is a statute covering their case and State Treasurer Agent W. H. Humphreys is after them.

This same law applies to many other kinds of peddlers, and Agent Humphreys says he will enforce the law to the letter. Below are the directions as received from the Attorney General.

Those Who Cannot Peddle.
 "Agents will bear in mind that only the manufacturer, mechanic, nurseryman, farmer or butcher keeping a regular place of business can sell his own productions by himself or employee. All other persons must provide a license before they will be allowed to peddle sewing machines, musical instruments, lightning rods, pumps, Yankee notions, books, patent and other medicines, soap of all kinds, dry goods, cloth of all kinds, yarn, china and tinware, groceries, boots and shoes, fruit of all kinds, and all other articles of trade, of whatever description and too numerous to mention."

The new law is designed to protect home merchants, who pay the taxes, from traveling vendors of all kinds who encroach on their business. The statute is a thorough one and is being rigidly enforced all over the state.

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head
 If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudiness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily, these brain-oppressing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alternative, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and biliary secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exerts a powerful invigorating influence as well. Its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter the Bitters is unrivaled; it mitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the ailments peculiar to the general sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique.

THEIR MILK WAS BLUE

Two More Dealers Prosecuted By Commissioner W. W. Chadwick

W. W. Chadwick, assistant state dairy and food commissioner has landed two more illegal milk dealers. At Monroe this week Fred Huebner and George Drye were both found guilty of selling unmerchantable milk, by Justice Thomas Luchsinger and each were fined $25 and costs. Huebner resides across the line in Illinois. They sell their milk at the Klasy factory in the town of Cadiz.

No man or woman can enjoy life or accomplish much in this world while suffering from a torpid liver. De Witt's Little Early Risers, the pills that clean that organ quickly. C. Stevens.

MORE PEARLS ARE FOUND.

Rich Discoveries in Lakes and Rivers Increase Excitement.

New discoveries of valuable deposits of pearls in lakes and rivers in Arkansas have added greatly to the excitement already existing over similar discoveries, and today thousands of people are wading through water in different portions of the state searching for the precious gems.

The latest and most sensational discoveries were made in the Arkansas River and the creeks, lakes and bayous near Little Rock, where pearls have been picked up ranging in value from $10 to $800 each. Hundreds of people are working the Saline, White and other rivers, and many valuable finds have been reported. Rich discoveries were made on Fourche river and hundreds of people are swarming to that stream.

It has now developed that in the course of a survey made on White River in 1895, $5,000 worth of pearls were collected by members of the survey. Recent discoveries lead to the assertion that never have so many and so large pearls been discovered. Pearls of from thirty to fifty grains in weight are no uncommon things to find in the possession of country lads, who fish for pearls as a pastime. The color of the pearls found is that of a saline rose.

A Little More Cost Brings Big Profits.

The addressing, folding, inclosing, sealing and stamping of five thousand circulars, with postage, will cost at least $65, whether the circular is good or bad. Notwithstanding this fixed charge, some strive to save a dollar or two on the cost of printing, although the goods advertised are to be judged by the character of the printing, just as a house is judged by the character of its salesmen. Good printing costs but little more, and that "little more" brings greater returns than any other part of the cost. Order your printing where good work is assured.

KHYBER PASS HAS FALLEN.

Today's dispatches report the defeat of the last British post on the Khyber Pass. The famous pass, gateway from Afghanistan to India, is now in the hands of the insurgents. Russia's influence seems apparent in the movement.

In the present outbreak England has to deal with the strongest warlike tribe on the border of the Punjab. The Afridis can muster 25,000 fighting men, and have always been a source of anxiety to England. At times they have been quieted by gifts, but more than once military expeditions were required to keep them within bounds. Twenty years ago a British army officer described the Afridi as a tall, athletic highlander, lean and muscular, with high nose and cheek bones and fairish complexion. They are careful skirmishers, good marksmen, usually shooting from a rest, and fairly well armed. Almost every man of fighting age carries a gun, often a rifle, a knife and a pistol. The tribe are trained to plunder, and have gathered considerable wealth in their forays, made without regard for the rights of persons and property. In religion they are strict believers in the Koran, and have shown greatly increased restlessness since the recent successes of the Turkish army.

According to the latest dispatches the Afridis have been pouring down through Khyber Pass toward Jamrud, a fortified town in British territory a few miles west of Peshwar, the terminus of the Northwestern railway. Beyond the town rise the naked hills of the Khyber range, and the entrance to the pass is between two tall cliffs. Two little British forts, Alimusjid and Maude, are within the pass, the most advanced at a distance of eight miles from the entrance. These outposts have been cut off by the swarming Afridis and Fort Lunde-Kotal, situated at the extreme end of the Khyber Pass and garrisoned by 300 men of the Khyber rifles, was attacked and burned by the Afridis on Tuesday.

It is evident that the British government distrusts the ameer of Afghanistan in this emergency. He has received emphatic warning, and denies that his troops are taking any part in the insurrection along the frontier. But he delights in calling himself "the light of union and religion" and is as thorough a Mohammedan as the sultan. In the end the grip of England upon the ameer may be rendered firmer, yet at present the British are on the defensive near Khyber Pass, and must maintain this attitude until more troops can be concentrated. There is still a rumbling of discontent elsewhere in India, with summary British arrests of prominent seditious speakers and writers in Poona, Lucknow and Bombay. Whatever elements of rebellion may exist in India, England at least will not be taken by surprise.

NO GENERAL STRIKE WANTED.

The sort of language used by President Hatchford is admirably calculated to hurt the cause of the miners.

The one thing which the country wants to avoid now above everything else is the "general strike" which Hatchford talks so airily about, and which he desires. The present strike has done some damage to the public in the way of retarding the business revival, and it has seriously injured the strikers by depriving them of wages for two months. A strike, however, in all the great industries, such as Hatchford and Debs want to bring about, or in any considerable number of them, would check the business revival, bring back the stagnation which the country has had for the past four years, and, of course, defeat the purpose which the strikers would have in view.

A DEAD ISSUE.

Mr. Bryan is speaking at country fairs in the southwest and is proving a profitable business speculation. He attracts to the fairs many people who never cared about improving their stock or their methods but who turn with joy to a plan for paying debts at 50 cents on the dollar. They overlook the fact that an address by Bryan or by any body on his side on the "political issues of the day" is about the last thing which any intelligent community in the United States needs at the present time. As a curiosity Bryan may be able to draw a crowd still, but no cause which has injected itself into American politics since the death of slavery was ever so thoroughly and so deservedly discredited as is the one for which Bryan stands.

Adversity seems to teach the average Spanish statesman nothing. Spain's new premier is said to be perfectly satisfied with Weyler's management of affairs. As a matter of fact Weyler hurts the Spanish cause in two ways. By his barbarities he strengthens the determination of the Cubans to accept nothing short of absolute independence, and he destroys all prospects for Spain to retain the sympathy of the European governments in her efforts to put down the rebellion in her colony. The Spanish government has nothing to fear from the republicans or the Carlists, but her chances to regain her old control of Cuba are hopeless.

President McKinley is too good a soldier not to appreciate the Spartan directness and the devotion to duty of the old soldier whose four years with the colors had taught him to obey orders, and who could not swerve even to admit the president of the United States.

The fears that the United States government will lose something in its silver holdings on account of the drop in that metal are baseless. All the silver bullion which was obtained under the Sherman law will ultimately be converted into coin under the existing ratio.

President McKinley is too good a soldier not to appreciate the Spartan directness and the devotion to duty of the old soldier whose four years with the colors had taught him to obey orders, and who could not swerve even to admit the president of the United States.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind! We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

MORE TIME NEEDED TO MATURE LEAF

WEATHER TOO COOL FOR LATE TOBACCO.

All That Has Been Harvested Thus Far Has Gone Into the Sheds in Good Condition—Edgerton Reporter Figures on the Dane County Yield.

There is said to be a growing inquiry for cured leaf in the local tobacco market, and the Edgerton Reporter hints that a sale of 300 cases of "B's" by a local dealer needs only sampling to complete the trade. H. S. McGiffin sold 55 cases of choice B's to Brill, and James Hutson purchased a 70 case lot of export leaf from an Evansville packer.

This has been a busy week with the growers, as the harvest is now being pushed with all available help. The weather has been suitable for shedding a large amount of the crop, though much too cool to mature the late set fields which will scarcely reach the growth of the earlier tobacco. A few growers have already completed their harvest but another week will be needed before the bulk of the crop will be secured.

New Firm in the Market

A new tobacco firm has been formed in Edgerton to be known as the McIntosh Bros. The senior member of the firm is Andrew McIntosh, who for the past four years has had charge of the Wisconsin business for S. Hershman Bros. & Co., of New York and New Orleans. The junior member is William McIntosh, for several years past the confidential man for C. L. Cullen.

William E. Brill has been in the market this week inspecting samples of the 1896 leaf of which his firm, Kerbs, Wirthheim & Schiffer, own 700 cases.

H. W. Child is harvesting 5 acres of Cuban tobacco grown near Edgerton. It is a fine looking crop in the field and good judges estimate it to yield close to 1000 pounds to the acre. It was topped high and resembles very much the island leaf. Pomeroy & Pelton have harvested fifteen acres of very fine leaf.

Big Crop in Dane County.

Dane county reports 9500 acres of growing leaf this year compared to 5997 in 1896. This is about the percentage of increase reported by Rock county. Editor Coon of the Edgerton Reporter estimates that these ratios will give a total acreage of from 18,000 to 20,000 acres, that of the state last year being 12,330 acres. The town of Christians in Dane county, has more acres of growing tobacco than any other township in the state, the area being 1489 acres. Next in line is Dunkirk with 1430 and Pleasant Springs with 1393, all three banner tobacco growing towns. After Albion with 895 but few towns grow to exceed 500 acres. The crop in Dane county alone promises to yield not far from 40,000 cases this season and aside from a small section of hail in Christians, is going into the sheds in fine condition. Last year the Dane county yield was 8,862,439 pounds.

CHAPTER OF BELOIT DEATHS

Fully a Thousand People Attend the Funeral of Gervase E. Willard.

Beloit, Wis., Aug. 27.—[Special]—Probably a thousand persons gathered in and about the Baptist church yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the funeral of Gervase E. Willard, who met his death by accident at the Fairbanks, Morse & Co's. Works Monday. Work was suspended in the shops and the men attended the funeral in a body, a company of 290 escorting the remains from the house to the church and finally to the state line, the burial being at Rockton.

Mr. Charles L. Burpee, a resident of this city over thirty years, died Thursday at his residence on State street after a lingering illness and much suffering.

T. A. Harvey, residing between Beloit and Clinton, died Wednesday after a lingering illness. He was a prominent Free Mason, a member of all the masonic bodies of the city, and a citizen held in very high esteem.

Mrs. E. C. Kluge received a telegram at noon Thursday announcing the sad news that her father, E. M. Buell of Berlin, had fallen dead at Ripon. No cause for his sudden death is known.

THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW

Funeral of W. G. Wheelock.

Many prominent in the business life of the city joined in paying tribute to the late W. G. Wheelock this afternoon. Services were held at 2:30 and the Third ward home was crowded.

Rev. R. C. Denison conducted the services and said in substance:

In the grief and mystery of this hour there are three things which have place in our minds. Our thoughts are divided between them.

One of them is memory. For many of you the touch of memory today brings back light upon many a half forgotten scene. Many a friendly chat, many an association of pleasure, business, work or pain will come into the minds of most here. These memories are safe for us—nothing can take their cheer and inspiration away.

Another thing which fills our minds is a sense of our loss. Of this I dare not speak much. Family, friends, church and city will have that feeling on their hearts and I need not burden you with an expression of it. The other thought which comes to us is faith. A faith in the God whose love explains even death's mystery to us. Faith is the God who gave life and brings life to its fulfillment in His heaven. This faith in our stay and our hope, and is the only one of these three thoughts which bridges the mystery between us and eternity.

Those who bore the remains to their last resting place were old friends of Mr. Wheelock, being J. M. Bostwick, J. C. Ehlman, E. F. Carpenter, C. S. Jackman, J. M. Whitehead and J. T. Wright. The interment was in Oak Hill.

Funeral of Mrs. Klenke.

The funeral of Mrs. Emily Klenke was held this afternoon. There were brief services at the home of Andrew Schaller at 2 p. m., and services were held at St. Paul's church at 2:30 p. m. They were conducted in German and English, Rev. J. C. Koerner being assisted by Rev. B. Kretschmar of St. Louis. The pall bearers were John Koerner and George, Albert, Charles, Will and Fred Schaller. The interment was in Oak Hill.

NEW DEPOT CHANCES ARE BETTER TODAY

C. M. & ST. P. AGREES TO CLOSING WALL STREET.

Signature of the Company, Long Withheld Has Been Attached to the Petition at Last—Proceedings Under Statute Governing Village Said to be Probable.

The prospects for a new C. & N. W. depot are much brighter today. Property owners on Wall street have come to realize how a handsome depot building would improve their part of the town and remove much of the prejudice against "living right by the railroad."

An important development which did much to change the aspect of the case was the concession made by the C. M. & St. P. road.

The Milwaukee & St. Paul own a triangular piece of property abutting on Wall street and had the power to check condemnation proceedings.

This morning, however, it was announced that the company would join in a request for the closing of the street.

Under Village Laws.

Under the provisions of the Janesville charter the requirements in condemnation proceeding are very severe, and it is probably that there might be some difficulty in securing authority for closing Wall street as desired.

The statutes, however, permit the closing of streets under a provision of the village laws even when a special charter exists. Under the village procedures, the consent of all property abutting on the part of the street to be closed must be had, but the consent of only two-thirds of the rest of the property on the street is required. Attorneys announced that this would very likely be the form which the proceedings would take in the present instance and representatives of the company expressed themselves as confident that there would be no hitch.

EDGERTON GOLFERS SORE

They Think They Should Have a Chance At Long Driving.

The Edgerton Golf Team was organized only last spring, and yet from some unaccountable reason they were barred from contesting for a prize offered by a Janesville firm for the longest drive at the Caledonia picnic game. Janesville golfers were up here and assisted in laying out the links and gave our boys instructions as to "how golf is played up to date" when the club first started in and everybody supposed that the best of goodfellowship existed between the two teams. The barring of the Edgerton golf club representative at the picnic game would indicate otherwise. It has made a sore spot in our golf club that time alone can heal—Edgerton Reporter.

PUSH WORK ON NEW HOTEL

Edgerton People Expect to Have a First Class House By November.

Work is being rushed on the new Edgerton hotel. Twenty-five masons and tenders are working on the basement walls. The stone laying will be about completed this week. Brick laying will be crowded along at the same rate. It is hinted that the contractor expects to have the hotel completed by November 1, and if this is done it will be the quickest job ever put up in Edgerton. In any event the house will be rushed with all possible speed, that the house may be in readiness to open before the buying of the new tobacco is likely to commence.

Mrs. Folsom, wife of Charles Folsom, the Clinton incendiary, drove into town this morning to begin her quest for a pardon for her husband. She will have a petition ready to present to the state pardon board at its next meeting. Mrs. Folsom says her husband was convicted on circumstantial evidence and that he is innocent. "Yes, it is true that I have commenced work on a petition for the pardon of my husband," said Mrs. Folsom to a Gazette man this morning. "Although I didn't think that many were aware of the fact it is nevertheless true. As a great many people are aware my husband was convicted and sentenced wholly on circumstantial evidence. I find that many are glad to sign the pardon petition."

As will be remembered Folsom was sentenced to seven years in Waupun for burning the barn of his father-in-law Giles, Burt. Sentence was passed June 4.

BURNED BY AN OIL STOVE

CHAPTER I.—Fifteen years before the opening of the story John Lewis went to live in a place called Lee, in New Hampshire, with a daughter six years old, Virginia, the daughter of his deceased sister. He had a son who had been left at school, but ran away and shipped for China. Five years after Lewis went to Lee a family named Marvel also settled there. Young Walter Marvel met and loved Virginia Lewis. Alice Marvel, Walter's sister, and Harry Lucas also met and were reported to be in love with each other. At the opening of the story a person purporting to be the missing son of John Lewis arrives at Lee. Walter Marvel proposes for Virginia's hand to her uncle, who refuses, telling him that his uncle, whose name he bears, was a villain and a convict. Young Marvel draws a pistol and shoots at Lewis, but his aim is diverted by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is found dead in his room with two bullet holes in his body. His death occurs simultaneously with the arrival of the man who claims to be his son. II.—Mr. Barnes, the celebrated detective, and Tom Burrows, another detective, take up the case, strongly suspecting Virginia as the criminal. III.—They examine the grounds about the house where the murder is committed, and find footprints of a man and a woman, the woman's footprints strengthening their suspicions of Virginia. They also find two pistols, one marked "Virginia Lewis," the other marked "Alice Marvel." Virginia writes a letter and goes away with it. Barnes disguised follows her. IV.—Virginia gives her letter to one Will Everly, who posts it. Barnes keeps his eye on it, gets possession of it and then learns the whereabouts of Walter Marvel. V.—Virginia visits Alice Marvel, who betrays a knowledge of the murder. VI.—John Lewis, the supposed son of the murdered man, produces envelopes addressed to him to prove his identity. He excites suspicion by leaving his room at midnight. VII, VIII, IX, X.—Barnes arrives at Lee with young Marvel, and an inquest is held, at which Alice Marvel testifies that she fired one of the shots that killed Lewis, and Virginia confesses that she murdered her uncle, presumably to shield the real murderer. XI, XII, XIII, XIV, XV.—Virginia is released and Walter Marvel is arrested for the murder. Barnes promises Virginia to try clear her lover and sets about doing it.

CHAPTER XIV.

WHEN DETECTIVES QUARREL.—?

When Burrows saw Mr. Barnes in the doorway, for a moment he was confused, but almost immediately he concluded that it was too late for the older detective to take any of the glory away from him. Summoning up his courage, he said:

"Good morning, Mr. Barnes. You are just in time to hear the news. I have discovered the real murderer."

Mr. Barnes looked at him keenly as he asked:

"Who is it?"

"The man whom I suspected from the start—Walter Marvel," replied Burrows, with a tinge of exultation in his voice.

"And pray how do you prove this?" asked Mr. Barnes quietly. Burrows was nettled at the tone of his superior and answered with considerable asperity:

"Oh, there is proof enough. I am sure of what I say, or I should not make the assertion."

"I hope you are not making any blunder, Burrows. Remember, it is a serious thing for a detective to make a charge of murder against any one unless he can assure a conviction at the trial."

"I know that; but I tell you there is no mistake here. I have tracked my man to and from the scene of the crime and can give you incontestable proof of what I say."

"Go on; I am listening," Mr. Barnes sat down on a chair near him. Burrows forthwith entered into a minute and detailed account of the facts from which he had reached the conclusion which he had just so positively asserted. During the narration Mr. Barnes made absolutely no comment, and when Burrows reached the end of his story he was impatient to know what would be said. He already saw that he would not receive the praise which he considered was due to his efforts. Mr. Barnes pondered over the situation for a few moments and then said:

"Do you realize what you have done, Mr. Burrows?" Burrows did not like to have Mr. Barnes call him "Mr." Burrows, for he knew at once that Mr. Barnes was angry, and, determined as he had been to pursue this examination alone, he had by no means counted on a quarrel. Therefore in a troubled tone he answered:

"Do I realize what I have done? No harm, I hope?"

"You have been the means of fixing a terrible imputation on the character of a girl who is the pride of this country."

"How so?"

"It was distinctly your duty to report to me the conversation which you had with the station agent. I am in charge thus chided before Lewis. But Mr. Barnes did not appear to notice his rising temper.

"I suppose not. Like all young men, you do a wrong act and then, instead of having the manhood to acknowledge the error and in some way endeavor to atone therefor, you persist in defending the course pursued. But you shall not make any more mistakes in this case. From this moment you may consider that you have no further connection with it."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that you will go back to Boston and remain there."

"And let you take all the credit for my work, I suppose? Mr. Barnes, you are presumptuous."

"I am in charge of this case, and I order you to have no more to do with it."

"What if I refuse?"

"I will dispatch a message to the agency and request your recall."

"Do so if you wish. Perhaps I shall send a message also that will place a different aspect on what you ask them to do. I have discovered the true criminal, and I doubt if I shall be recalled for so doing."

Mr. Barnes stopped a moment to reflect. He did not wish to force Burrows into any hasty action and preferred, if possible, still to control him. So, abandoning for a moment his tone of command, he asked:

"Since you have assumed charge of the affair, will you mind telling me what you wish to do next?"

"I believe that the evidence is all to be given to the grand jury today. I should go to Dover at once and relate to them the facts which I have just told you."

"In other words, not satisfied with the trouble which you have already given to Miss Lewis, you will now go and obtain the indictment of her lover, notwithstanding the fact that he is innocent."

"Innocent?"

"Of course he is innocent. You have proved it by your work. Only by your delay you have lost all traces of the real criminal."

"But how can you say that he is innocent when I have proved that he came here straight from the farm; that he was recognized?"

"By a man who does not know him."

"But here in his own house are signs of his guilt."

"Burrows, if this were not so serious a case, I would let you have your way and then, at the trial, show you what an idiot you are. But as I wish, if possible, to avoid any more mistakes, I will show you how easy it is for me to overturn your castles in the air. According to your latest theory, you make Marvel commit murder and leave the town on a train which started from Lee at 10:39 p. m. Now, Miss Lewis left him across the river, went directly to her room and reached there at 10:30 p. m. Therefore it is plain that Marvel has an easily proved alibi."

Burrows flushed at this, but he was not willing to give up his theory without one more struggle.

"The only way in which he could prove that would be by the testimony of his accomplice, and"—

"Stop! For shame, Mr. Burrows! Would you resort to so base a thing as slander simply to have the gratification of finding a criminal? To make your chain complete, would you implicate a girl against whom you have not a particle of evidence?"

"She has confessed her share in the crime."

"She is a noble woman and is trying to shield her lover from the mistakes of such detectives as you are proving yourself to be."

"You ought to go on the stage," sneered Burrows. "You would make quite a heroic actor, Mr. Barnes."

"Come," said Mr. Barnes sternly, "no impertinence! Respect my age and experience if you do not respect me, and now, since I cannot turn you from your folly, which in this case will possibly be a crime, I must resort to compulsion, and again, as your superior, I order you to abandon your project."

"And I refuse," returned Burrows hotly.

"Very well. I will give you one more chance. Whatever little ability as a detective you may have you have imbibed most of your best methods from association with me. Let me tell you that if you do not obey me in this instance you must never expect any assistance or advice from me again. Moreover, I swear to find the guilty man and to right the wrong which you will have done to two innocent people. Act as you have said you will, and you will live to rue the day when you quarreled with Jack Barnes."

Burrows regretted the turn of events, but he felt too sure of his position to give it up. He thought Mr. Barnes was actuated to some extent by jealousy, and that he would find it difficult to accomplish all that he threatened. He had no pity for Marvel, for he believed him to be the guilty man, and so he determined to go at once to Dover with his new evidence. In reply to Mr. Barnes he said:

"You have made the quarrel, not I. I am doing my duty."

"What will you do, Mr. Lewis?" asked the elder detective.

"I shall go on to Dover with Mr. Barnes and see the thing through."

"I don't see that!" Burrows was getting angry now. He did not relish being don't say that I think he is right, for, as you say, I should be obliged to accept the theory that Miss Lewis is guilty also, and while I thought Marvel the murderer, as I told you before I started here, I must say that I would rather think him innocent than believe that my cousin had a hand in the affair. Still she may have been mistaken about the time. However, I must wait for older heads than mine to solve this problem."

"I am glad that you are not as easily convinced by this array of evidence as our young friend thinks the jury will be. As I suppose you want the truth, I promise you that I will use all my best skill to unravel this mystery."

"Do so, Mr. Barnes, and I will give you $1,000. I have saved some money, and although that is a large sum I will give it cheerfully."

"Thank you for your generous offer, but I am going to work now as a duty. The innocent must not and shall not suffer if I can prevent it. Besides, my professional pride is aroused in this now."

The three men then turned their steps toward the town and walked along in silence. Each of the party had much with which to occupy his thoughts, and, besides, the recent scene had caused rather a restraint, at least between two of them. Just before they reached the hotel, however, Mr. Barnes asked Burrows:

"How many shots were fired from that pistol?"

"There are three empty shells in it."

"That is to say, it has been used twice since the shot which Marvel fired at the birthday party?"

"Evidently."

Mr. Barnes said no more, and a few minutes later they all were at the hotel, whence they went to the depot. Burrows and Lewis started by train for Dover, and Mr. Barnes for Boston. Reaching that city, he went directly to the agency and reported all that had occurred. He was closeted with the chief for over an hour, but was unable to convince that personage that Burrows was on a wrong scent. On the contrary, he seemed to think that the young man had shown considerable ability in ferreting out the truth of the matter.

"Well," said Mr. Barnes, "you must choose between me and him. If you refuse to recall him from the case, you must accept my resignation from the agency."

"I should be sorry to lose our best man," responded the chief, "but, really, your request seems a little unreasonable to me. Burrows has only done what we must consider a service, and it would be manifestly unjust to let him suffer for it."

"Then you refuse to call him home?"

"Well, I don't see"—

"There are no half way measures which you can adopt. It must be either Burrows or Barnes. Come, decide at once! I have no time to waste!"

"Well, then, since you will have it, you force me to accept your resignation, though I regret it very much."

"Sentiment is unnecessary," said Mr. Barnes dryly. "Good morning!" Before the chief could say a word he was gone, and his superior more than half doubted the wisdom of the course which he had pursued. But that is only man's nature. We often decide quickly, only to regret as soon as the decision is irrevocable.

Leaving the agency, Mr. Barnes proceeded to a telegraph office and sent a dispatch to the clerk of the court at Dover, asking for news as to the result of the examination before the grand jury. This done, he went to his home and dined, after which he waited impatiently for a telegram from Dover, because he had decided to do nothing until he should hear from the court officer. The afternoon passed, and the evening, till at length he concluded that he would not hear till the following day, and therefore retired to rest. Early in the morning he received the dispatch, which read:

"Marvel indicted for murder."

This was only what he had expected, but he could not repress an exclamation of disgust at what he still thought was the consequence of criminal interference on the part of Burrows. What should he do next?

That was the point to settle, but while he ate his breakfast and pondered over this point a servant announced that a lady wished to see him. He at once repaired to his parlor, whither she had been shown, and was astounded to see Virginia Lewis.

"You are no doubt surprised that I am here."

"I confess that I am."

"I have been set at liberty, and Mr. Marvel has been indicted by the grand jury."

"I have just received a telegram to that effect."

"What will you do next? I went to the agency in search of you and learned that you have severed your connection with the case. Will you tell me why you did so?"

"Because they refuse to recall Mr. Burrows."

"Then you do not think that the evidence which he discovered proves the guilt of Mr. Marvel?"

"Miss Lewis, I must tell you that I did not credit the story which you told implicating yourself, and if I believe in your innocence I must also believe in Mr. Marvel's."

"Why so?"

"Burrows is no doubt right in claiming that the murderer is the man who made the trip to Epping that night, but I think he is wrong in his identification of this man."

"I thought he had that all thoroughly explained?"

"Miss Lewis, I imagine from your coming here that you wish my aid."

"I have come to you because I fancied that you believe Mr. Marvel innocent. I wish you to try to prove it."

"Precisely. Meanwhile you yourself suspect that he is guilty, do you not?"

"I do not say so."

"It is so, nevertheless. But we shall not act alone in this way. You must not fence with me any more. We are on the same side now, and though Burrows has not had as much experience as I have it will take all my skill to destroy the case which he has made out against your lover." Mr. Barnes used this word purposely to arouse her to action.

"I trust you, Mr. Barnes, and place our affair in your hands. Ask me what you please, and I will reply."

"Very good. In the first place tell me am I not right in saying that you have believed that Mr. Marvel is guilty?"

"Yes. You are right."

"Very good. That proves your innocence. Now I will demonstrate his, to your satisfaction at least." He explained the discrepancy as to time in the theory of the other detective.

"But, then," said Virginia, "the real murderer must have placed the pistol where it was found, so as to throw suspicion on Mr. Marvel?"

"Exactly! You are quick to see things, quicker than our adversary, Mr. Burrows. Before we go into that, however, tell me why you consider Marvel guilty. You must have more reason for that opinion than is known to me."

"I have. After we separated across the river, as you shrewdly discovered, he returned to the farm. He admitted to you that he had entered the house, but he did not tell you that he had left a note for me. I found this in the morning and, as I see now, I misconstrued it. That was the secret motive of all my actions thereafter."

"Have you the letter now?"

"Yes, here it is." Taking it from her pocket, she handed it to Mr. Barnes. It read as follows:

When we parted tonight, you spoke as though you could not give me the answer that I wish. Perhaps when this reaches you you may see things differently. By morning what now seems an obstacle in your judgment may be removed, and you may feel free to decide your own and my fate yourself. Should you decide against me, write to me, as agreed, and I will leave you and this country forever.

WALTER.

Mr. Barnes read this carefully, and then said:

"I see your mistake. In reading it you placed a comma after the word 'judgment,' whereas he meant it to be after the word 'obstacle.' However, this paper alone will prove the alibi so necessary to Mr. Marvel, and so you may rest easy, although I shall not until I have found the man who manufactured all this evidence against Mr. Marvel. There is another point which I wish cleared up. How did you know there were two wounds in the body and so be able to arrange your story to meet the requirements of the case so well?"

"When Alice fainted, and was brought out of the room, Harry Lucas came with her, and while the doctor was attending to her, I questioned Lucas."

"Of course. Of course. I was a fool to let him leave the room, but then a man cannot think of everything. You are a clever woman, Miss Lewis, and it will be a pleasure for me to serve you. Now, one thing more. Tell me why you did not destroy that paper upon which your uncle had written Mr. Marvel's name, accusing him of the crime. That was a dangerous bit of evidence to keep if you wished to shield him."

"Yes, I know, but it is just because it seemed so conclusive that I did keep it. I thought that I should be able to prevent its existence from being discovered, but in that I was sadly mistaken. I kept it for this reason. I was willing to shield Mr. Marvel at any sacrifice, because—because I love him. But I should never have received him again so long as I knew him to be or thought that he was a criminal. Suppose that he had gone away, and then should return after a year or two, never having been publicly accused? Don't you see how terrible my position would be? To be obliged to accuse him of a crime when I had no proof?"

"Exactly. You were willing to suppress the evidence to save him, but you preserved it to save yourself. Very proper perhaps, but, you see, very risky, considering your primary purpose. Of course that paper will tell against him now. Then there is the matter of the locket. That certainly looks very bad. How do you account for that?"

"Why—why—don't you see? That was my last hope destroyed. When I heard that Walter—Mr. Marvel—had taken the locket and remembered that I had found it tight in my dead uncle's hand, the whole thing seemed too terribly certain. But now—"

"Ah! You have a theory?"

"Mr. Barnes, you men never quite understand us women. We love a man and after that we cling to him forever. We hope against reason and manufacture reasons upon which to build hope. So, ever since the inquest, I have striven to find an explanation of this locket affair. There is one possibility that has occurred to me. Mr. Marvel certainly entered the house after I had retired and probably while my uncle was yet alive. May he not have dropped the locket and may not my uncle, disturbed by some noise, have searched the house and accidentally have found the locket?"

"That is very well argued, Miss Lewis, but I fear that it will not prove to be true. Unless Mr. Lewis was killed immediately after he would scarcely have retained the locket in his hand. Still, it is a possibility. It would do at a pinch in trying to confuse a jury; but, unless I be greatly mistaken, nothing of that sort will be necessary. I hope to discover the whole solution of this singularly complex affair."

"Where will you begin?"

"Where Burrows did, only I will go the other way. He followed the man away from the scene of the murder and allowed himself to get on a false scent. I will trace him to the place from which he came and there discover his identity. Meanwhile you must go home again. When is the funeral?"

"It is to be this afternoon."

"Then I go back with you. But, first, there is something that I can find out, even here in Boston. If you will wait for me, my housekeeper will get you some breakfast while I do my errand."

Miss Lewis agreed, and Mr. Barnes went out. He proceeded to the main

Gas Stove Philosophy

MATCHES CHEAPER THAN GAS.

Light a burner only when you are ready to use it and turn it off the instant you are done with it. This is the real secret of small gas bills. When a top burner is first lighted the fire is then as hot as though it had been lighted an hour. Take instant advantage of this and lower flame after a thing has once started to cook. Gas is the most economical fuel when ordinary care is taken. Gas Stoves can be used as well in cool weather as in the heated season; their great convenience is the same at all times. The Gas Stove is a complete stove for all kinds of cooking. The even heat of the Gas Stove brings better cooking results than that of other stoves. As an emergency stove the Gas Stove has no equal. It pays for itself on occasions of great hurry. The draught of the Gas Stove is always the same—because it requires no draught. The wind may shift or the chimney become clogged, but the Gas stove does its work just the same. The Gas Stove lengthens one's life and the overworked housewife can truly appreciate the leisure hours gained through its use.

quieter and more exclusive in the way of footwear must be chosen. For the country and the seaside they do very well and are suitable enough, but when a serious costume is in question black glace kid or patent leather is the only proper wear.

White gloves are less worn, beige, rye, butter, pearl gray and putty gray now advancing in favor. Suede kid, which has been for several years superseded by glace kid, shows symptoms of coming to the front again.

The most convenient summer outside garment for little children is the short coat of white flannel, double breasted, fastened with two rows of gold or pearl buttons and having a large sailor collar. It is comfortable and is easily washed. Large shirred bonnets are always in vogue for babies. Those of lawn or batiste, trimmed with embroidery, have the advantage of being washable.

The sketch given today illustrates a costume of white tulle embroidered with white. The skirt is full, being gathered at the waist over a lower skirt of light pink tulle. The blouse bodice of embroidered tulle, also over pink tulle, is trimmed with white lace arranged under a sort of yoke of pink tulle embroidered with white. The tight sleeves of pink tulle have a small double puff at the top and are trimmed with bands of white lace insertion. The belt is of pink tulle embroidered with white and has short tabs to match. The collar is of pink silk. The neck and sleeve frills are of white lace. The toque of pink tulle is trimmed with white ostrich feathers and pink flowers.

NEW FANCIES.

Gathered Skirt and Belted Bodice—Embroidery Used Largely.

Among the prettiest of the fashionable new gray toilets are the gowns having a skirt gathered all around at the waist and a belted bodice, with a plastron of light pink silk, covered with yellow tulle, embroidered with white or with ivory embrodered gauze. White or cream guipure or other heavy lace is also much used with gray as an application, sometimes over the gray itself, sometimes over colored silk.

The newest corslet is wide in front, but diminishes at the side, becoming very narrow behind and terminating in two long ends without bows. These ends are rounded and are edged with a narrow ruffle, ruche or lace. The affair is a revival of the sash arrangements worn 20 or 25 years ago and is very little changed from the then prevailing mode.

Ruches are steadily gaining in favor as a trimming. A pretty decoration for the foot of a skirt consists of a wide band of embroidered lace insertion, bordered at each edge by a narrow but full ruche of mousseline de soie.

There are long, wide belts that are tied sometimes behind, sometimes at the side, with floating ends. There are also medium width and narrow belts made of embroidery in applique, of galloon or of embroidered kid.

Revers of white, pink or yellow satin are employed for the decoration of jackets made of beige, mastic and light gray cloth. Of course such jackets are only intended for very elaborate wear—calls, afternoon receptions, etc. They would be out of place for ordinary street use.

An illustration is given which shows a simple but pretty arrangement of a leg-horn hat for a little girl. The straw is of the usual light tint, and the hat is turned up at the back under a thick group of choux of straw colored satin. A ruche of red satin encircles the crown, and there is also a large bow of red satin. A cluster of field flowers is placed at the left side. The same idea could be carried out in beige felt, with beige satin choux instead of straw colored ones and chrysanthemums or dahlias in place of the field flowers.

A Remarkable Cure of Chronic Diarrhoea.

In 1862, when I served my country as a private in Company A, 16th Pennsylvania Volunteers, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. It has given me a great deal of trouble ever since. I have tried a dozen different medicines and several prominent doctors without any permanent relief. Not long ago a friend sent me a sample bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after that I bought and took a 50 cent bottle; and now I can say that I am entirely cured. I cannot be thankful enough to you for this great Remedy, and recommend it to all suffering veterans. If in doubt write me. Yours gratefully, HENRY STEINBERGER, Allentown, Pa. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy always affords prompt relief. Sold at C. D. Stevens' pharmacy, corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

It is always gratifying to receive testimonials for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and when the endorsement is from a physician it is especially so. "There is no more satisfactory or effective remedy than Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Dr. R. E. Robey, physician and pharmacist, of Olney, Mo.; and as he has used the Remedy in his own family and sold it in his drug store for six years, he should certainly know. For sale at C. D. office of the Boston and Maine railroad and asked for the superintendent. Being shown into the presence of that official, he at once explained the object of his visit.

"I am tracing a man," said he, "and know that he reached Lee, N. H., on the train which is due there about 9 o'clock. Can you find the ticket which he gave to the conductor on that train last Sunday night?"

"Very easily, provided he was the only passenger for that place."

Calling an attendant, he gave him orders to find the ticket, and a few minutes later Mr. Barnes held it in his hand. It read, "Worcester to Lee."

Mr. Barnes was troubled, for he remembered that Marvel had testified that he had been in Worcester, hiding from the authorities. He examined the ticket closely and noted that it was rough on one edge, as though a portion had been torn off. He handed it to the superintendent and asked:

"Can you tell me where this ticket was bought? I see that one or more coupons have been torn off. Therefore the passenger must have started from some point the other side of Worcester."

The superintendent looked at the ticket and replied:

"This was originally sold in New York, and is the form used by the New York line of steamers. But your man may have bought this half of the ticket from a scalper in Worcester."

Mr. Barnes thanked the superintendent and left the office.
